

Dear Colleagues,

We would ask you to promote this information amongst your academic staff.

Universidade Católica Portuguesa in Porto is happy to invite you to their International week that will take place, from 5th to 8th may 2020 with the theme " Internationalization at Home: Internationalization of HEI's: an opportunity for local communities". It will be an opportunity for teachers to give visiting lectures at our university under Erasmus Teaching and Staff Mobility (STA). With this Erasmus Week we would like to further increase the successful cooperation between our universities.

Academics from partner universities are welcome to propose lectures in different topics related to:

- Sustainable development,
- intercultural awareness,
- teaching innovation,
- international communication.

Our purpose is that you come and share your knowledge on the topics above, and develop extracurricular activities and networking events.

In addition to the guest lectures, the programme will include a welcome session, a presentation of partner universities and cultural activities.

English will be the common language.

Your participation in lectures and activities during the International Week will ensure that we can provide certificates for the full number of teaching hours.

In case you are interested to apply, please submit your application here:
